I cannot thank you enough for your presentation last Saturday. Some people called it a real gift. Some people called it life-changing. It was both of those. Thank you for making me realize that I have more to give and that there are things I can do every day to be my best self and to live my best life.

You are a gift. Thank you.

Dave Kovar was dynamic and inspirational but, most of all, he incorporated practical thinking into everyday life. His was one of the most influential keynotes our Association has ever experienced.
